Award-Winning Excellence: Celebrating Our Outstanding Team!

Hello,

Our company's unwavering commitment to growth, innovation, and fostering an exceptional workplace culture has led us to remarkable achievements. We're proud to share that CDR has been honored with several of the prestigious Zweig Awards, most notably for 'Best Firm to Work For', a testament to our dedication to nurturing our team's growth, fostering a collaborative atmosphere, and ensuring that every individual's contributions are valued.

In addition to this exciting achievement, we are celebrating our recognition in the 'Hot Firm' category, solidifying our position as one of the fastest growing firms in the United States. This achievement is a direct result of the hard work and dedication our engineers pour into each project, ensuring that our clients receive exceptional service and innovative solutions.

As we continue to celebrate the remarkable achievements within our team, we proudly introduce another shining example of dedication and excellence. Royce Eklund, PE, has undeniably proven himself as a rising star among us, earning the well-deserved 'Rising Star Award'. His contributions not only illuminate his personal growth but also mirror our company's steadfast commitment to nurturing talent and empowering young professionals to ascend to new heights.

In this quarter's spotlight, we shift our focus to another exceptional individual whose journey encapsulates the essence of our company's dynamic spirit. Meet Meghan Meek, our esteemed Operations Manager. Meghan's unwavering dedication and versatile expertise are emblematic of the pursuit of excellence that defines CDR. Her trajectory from the realm of accounting to the role of operations manager serves as a testament to the diverse talents that converge to drive innovation within our team.

In line with our dedication to staying at the forefront of innovation, we took an in-depth look at the details of the new Permavoid technology in a recent article on our blog. This revolutionary technology offers sustainable stormwater management solutions that align perfectly with our commitment to engineering excellence and environmentally responsible practices.

As we continue to grow and innovate, we remain dedicated to serving our clients with the utmost dedication, expertise, and enthusiasm. With each project, we reaffirm our commitment to delivering top-tier solutions that propel us towards a future of continued success.

As always, please reach out with any of your civil engineering needs.
